

November 10th, 2014

To whom it may concern.

I have known Daniel Sharon for approximately nine years. I had the good fortune to have Daniel as a client at several high end properties that he managed. His dedication and demand of excellent service earned him the respect of his clients, and the experience was full of lessons for anyone that was up to the challenge of earning his respect. I have many friends in the industry who will agree with me when I say that I look at Daniel as not only a mentor, but a great friend to have in the hospitality industry. I recommend Daniel to anyone who is looking to raise the bar on service level and efficiency, and would like to have a good time doing it.

Benton Launerts

National Sales Director at Kent Services