To Whom It May Concern:

I was fortunate enough to work with Daniel on several luxury projects in South Florida. Though his vast experience and professionalism are unparalleled, it was his focus on the client experience that set him apart.

From inception to execution, Daniel's focus was not to just streamline operations but to ultimately enhance services for the residents. It is no surprise that many of the properties that Daniel has led are still the standard for exceptional service today.

We have a young group working for our company and I'd make sure that when Daniel was talking, they were listening. He's truly an asset to any company he works with.

Best,
